Reports of the regional forums on sustainable development

Note by the Secretariat

1. The importance of the regional dimension of sustainable development has long been recognized. At the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, from 20 to 22 June 2012,¹ Member States recognized that regional frameworks could complement and facilitate the effective translation of sustainable development policies into concrete action at the national level.
2. Subsequently, when the General Assembly decided on the format and organizational aspects of the high-level political forum on sustainable development, it acknowledged the importance of the regional dimension of sustainable development and invited the regional commissions to contribute to the work of the forum, including through annual regional meetings, with the involvement of other relevant regional entities, major groups and other relevant stakeholders, as appropriate.²
3. The value of follow-up and review at the regional and subregional levels was also reflected in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development,³ in which Member States recognized that such follow-up and review could provide useful opportunities for peer learning, including through voluntary reviews, sharing of best practices and discussion on shared targets.
4. Since the adoption of the 2030 Agenda, the regional commissions have convened regional forums on sustainable development. The forums have served as vibrant platforms at which to discuss follow-up and review of the Agenda at the regional level and to prepare for the reviews of the high-level political forum.
